About The Webinar

Hypothyroid pharmacotherapy has a long history of challenges and as any physician or provider can attest to – there is no single bulls-eye treatment solution. The individual differences in response to thyroid medications are vast, the supply-chain is troubling, and patient frustration is evident. Led by pharmacotherapeutic expert in hormone therapy and facilitator of globally recognized continuing education program on personalizing hormone therapy –

Dr. Ken Speidel, BS Pharm, PharmD, RPh, FIACP, FACA – this webinar will:

- Explore opportunities for personalization through pharmaceutical compounding.
- Drive evidence that has you thinking outside the box.
- Present a case for natural thyroid extract.
- Introduce what a consistent and quality supply can look like.
- Create an opportunity for improved patient care.
